CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS TO LAST FIFTEEN DAYS

Chapel Exercises Include Debates "When Shall We Go Home?"

December 19-January 4 Set as Final Dates

Dr. Parks officially announced Dec. 19-Jan. 4, as the date for Christmas holidays.

No student is to be allowed to leave before ten o'clock on the morning of Dec. 19. The Beauty Special will leave is burden of happy students shortly after classes stop.

These announcements were made on Thursday, Dec. 10. On the preceding day, at chapel exercises, the topic of going home was brought up for discussion by the students. The question was whether it was better to go home early and return early, or to go late and return late. The opinions differed, but the majority seemed to have gotten the holiday spirit and advocated leaving early.

Because of the diversified opinions, Dr. Parks called for volunteers from each class to come to the platform and publicly give arguments for either side. As each argument was presented it was received with hearty applause from the student body.

Those speaking in behalf of the "early" plan, were: Winifred Chandler, Margaret Meaders, Mildred Foster, and Helen Polk. Those favoring the late plan were, Frances Hinton, Marjorie Maxwell, Polly Moss, and Carolyn Cheney.

The old saying that "Christmas comes but once a year", is being appreciated to the fullest, and every student plans to make the most of this holiday season.

Training School in Full Swing

Diligent Teachers Are Carrying On Work Begun on Dec. 1, Date of Second Term

Work in the Training School of the Georgia State College for Women is progressing smoothly. The second term, which was begun on December 1, is being carried on by a corps of diligent teachers.

The plan of the Training School consists of four terms for the year. This is so devised in order to enable each member of the normal-senior class to teach sixteen weeks, and during the remaining sixteen weeks, to observe others teach. Those teachers on the first and third assignments, observe during the second and fourth, and vice versa.

Similar plans are most successfully used in the leading colleges for

VOTE TAKEN ON WORLD COURT

Much Interest Was Aroused Over the Poll

560 TO 231 FOR COURT

During the last two or three months the topic creating the most interest, and the most discussion, is the World Court. Not only on our campus was it such an all important question, but on every campus in the United States. Never has an international question aroused more interest among the students of the United States.

The purpose of the intense study was to prepare the students to vote whether or not the United States should enter the world court.

The voting on our campus took place Tuesday, December 8. Votes were cast by all students and members of the faculty.

The results were 560 in favor of entering the Court, and 231 against entering. These results will be sent to the "New Student", a publication for students, which will inform Congress of the results of all colleges which have taken votes.

It is hoped that this information will have quite a bit of weight when the matter is thrashed out in Congress.

Class in Education Gives Mental Tests

Ed. 27 Group Visits Eddy High School

Otis Self-Administering Test Is Used

The class in Tests and Measurements has just completed a survey of Eddy High School (colored) of Milledgeville. A careful study of the results will be made and the records turned over to the principal of the school. Achievement tests were given in spelling, penmanship, arithmetic, history, geography, reading, and composition. To secure the intelligence of the students the Otis Self-administering Test was used. In all probability follow-up tests will be given in the spring and careful comparisons made.

Those taking part in the survey were Misses Bagley, Bell, Bigham, Brantley, Brightwell, L., Brightwell, R., Camp, Candler, Carter, Clark, Connally, Cook, DeJournette, Hendricks, Moore, Moran, Moss, Newsom, Pye, Salter, Slappey, Taylor, Thompson, Freeman and Mr. Wynn.

First History Clubs Organized.

President, Marjorie Maxwell; Vice-President, Hazel Hogan; Secretary-Treasurer, Evelyn Owens

ADOPT 3-FOLD CONSTITUTION

For the first time since G. S. C. has had a History department, a club has been organized for the students who are making an extensive study in that particular field.

On Saturday morning, Dec. 5th, the club met for the purpose of formally adopting a constitution, and to elect the officers for the year. Those who were elected are: Marjorie Maxwell, president; Hazel Hogan, vice-president; Evelyn Owens, secretary-treasurer. Grace Taylor was elected chairman of the program committee; Frances Hinton and Louise Frost are to serve on that committee also.

The purpose of the club is three-fold: to make history of vital interest to students; to furnish a means of gaining additional knowledge on current problems which are not included in the regular course of study; to further a co-operative spirit among those who are majoring or minoring in History.

The club desires to share its work with the entire student-body by means of open forums, discussions, and debates.

FRESHMAN COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEET

Former Council Presidents Attend

The Freshman Council, composed of thirty elected representatives of the Freshman class, held its first meeting Monday afternoon, November 30, in the Y. W. C. A. room.

The girls eagerly entered the room and were ready to take up their duties and responsibilities. How important they felt! There was not a girl present who was not aware of the faith and trust that her classmates had in her.

Jayne Weeks, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., called the meeting to order, and Mary Moss, a member of the cabinet and president of the Junior class, offered a few words of prayer.

After the roll call, Miss Oma Goodson, Y. W. C. A. General Secretary, led a group discussion on the functions of the Freshman Council. Some of the questions discussed were: the needs of the campus which have been met, and also the needs of the campus.

SHOULD U. S. ENTER THE WORLD COURT?

Is Question Debated on December 7 by G. S. C. Students

NEGATIVE VICTORY

The World Court question is one which has created quite a bit of interest on our campus. It has been discussed by individuals, by Y. W. C. A. cabinet and by special World Court groups.

The culmination of this interest was displayed Monday night, December 7, at the Opera house.

Representatives from each of the four classes debated the subject: "Resolved, That the United States of America should enter the World Court."

The affirmative side was debated by Eleanor Hatcher, Senior degree representative, and Margurite Jackson, Sophomore representative. The negative side was championed by Lorene Teaver, Junia and Mary Parker, Freshman. Each speaker revealed much enthusiasm and interest, and the speeches showed constant and intense preparation. After about fifty minutes of arguing, the judgment was rendered in favor of the negative side.

The judges were Dr. Johnson, Dr. Webber and Rev. Harding.

So much interest has not been shown by the college this year as was manifested the night of the debate.

Before and after the debate, the opera house rang with yells and songs of members of the classes represented. Virginia Arnold was Senior-Sophomore cheer leader, while Annie Candler led the cheers for Juniors and Freshmen.

Mrs. McKinney is New Dietitian.

Has Charge of Atkinson and Terrell B. Dining Halls

Misses Dickson and Henderson Are Assistants

Mrs. Boza McKinney of Birmingham, Alabama, is the new dietitian at G. S. C. W. She is filling the position recently vacated by Mrs. Moore, now Mrs. J. F. Bell. The large dining room in Atkinson Hall and the smaller one in Terrell Annex B are under her supervision.

Mrs. McKinney has been dietitian at Lagrange Woman's College, Wesleyan, and Gulf Park, Gulf Port, Mississippi. In taking charge of her many duties, here, she has shown the ability and efficiency characteristic of long experience in handling such problems and in dealing with girls.

Misses Joyce Henderson and Leila

Full Membership Voted for G. S. C. at Meeting In Charleston

Dr. Parks, Dean Scott and Dr. Walker Attend

The Georgia State College for Women last week was voted full membership in the Southern Association of Colleges in the Annual Meeting at Charleston. This means that the work of the College is fully standardized, and that the degrees and credits are accepted by the other colleges and universities in the South and in the United States.

The College was represented at the Charleston Meeting by President M. M. Parks, by Dean E. H. Scott, and by Dr. George Harris Webber.

The progress and advancement of the College in recent years have been remarkable. The standards have gradually been raised during the last twenty years, and degrees have been given since 1921. The requirements for admission to the Freshman Class were raised to the fifteen-unit basis in 1917. The Faculty has been enlarged and strengthened, and the College is now doing Standard College work. Full membership in the Southern Association of Colleges is another step forward.

New Structures Result of Fire

Main Building Burned One Year Ago; Is Replaced by Three New Buildings

The classroom and administration building of G. S. C. W. was completely destroyed by fire a year ago Monday morning, December 8. From that day through the three hundred and sixty-five that have followed the reconstruction has been continued. The scholastic work has been hampered very little, and other difficulties have been overcome as well through splendid administration and co-operation. In spite of the handicap the college received the greatest number of applicants for 1925-26 known in its history.

A large classroom building, modern and adequate in every respect, has reached completion. This imposing structure fronts West Hancock street, and its massive columns offer a fitting view at the head of the paved drive. At present, classes are being held in practically every room of the building.

The new auditorium, which faces Clarke street, is well under way. This promises to be a magnificent building which will greatly enhance

APPRECIATION—A REAL CHRISTMAS GIFT

Christmas is coming again—we hear the glad tidings that rang out on that first glorious Christmas morn nearly two thousand years ago.

We are turning our minds to gifts that will help spread the message of Christmas-time to our loved ones.

The greatest Christmas gift in this old world is appreciation. You can give nothing that will please everybody more than that.

Somewhat after you spend your pocket-books and yourselves in the art of buying gifts for your friends, maybe it isn't worth your time or money. Yet—what can you do?

If, just before the Christmas buying fever sets in, you were to stop and sit down and really think about the thing that would be most pleasing to everybody, you will realize that EVERYBODY wants to be APPRECIATED more than anything else.

One of the worst crimes that you can commit is to assume an unappreciative attitude. You load children with toys, books, and bright ribbons. But what your child wants more than any of these is a gift of YOU—your appreciation of his worth.

In truth we all like to be appreciated. Some may call it flattery. Yet we like and furthermore, we enjoy it.

If you want the real Christmas spirit in your life, study to appreciate every living being you know.

If your pocket-book does not permit you to buy presents, it cannot prevent you from appreciating the admirable qualities of those whom you meet.

As the glorious Christmas season draws near, and as the Star of Bethlehem shines forth its message of Peace and Good-will, may the glorious rays of the most precious of gifts, APPRECIATION, shine upon all that come in contact with you. And may you appreciate more than all other things, the spirit of Christ who loves and appreciates us all.

HELP! FILL THE MOUNTAIN CHRISTMAS BOXES

Express your Christmas cheer by helping fill the "Mountain" boxes on each floor.

These gifts are to be the only Christmas that mountain children will have.

If we fail to help, it means that some child must be left uncared for. It means that some little fellow will be cheerless instead of joyous.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

The giving at Christmas-time could be greatly changed if it were possible for every person to read and really appreciate Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal."

Some people wish that they could sleep through Christmas and be relieved of the many demands their social position makes upon them. Others who are in moderate circumstances are worried over how to make their money last for expenses and also pay for the presents they wish to give as well as those they must give. All this would be done away with if the story of Sir Launfal were fully appreciated.

As one watches the gifts in the mail there is a wonder of the motive back of each. Some for the pure joy of giving; many are given grudgingly because they are duty gifts; many in order to receive one in return. Sir Launfal in his prime threw gold to a leper. The gold was valueless because it was given from a sense of duty. When Sir Launfal was "old and ragged and gray" he shared a crust of bread. This gift was so great in value he thought he heard the voice of Christ saying:

"The Holy Supper is kept indeed,
In whatsoever we share with another's need,
Not what we give but what we share,
For the gift without the giver is bare."

It is no joy to give in order to receive. The only joy is not to give but share what we really need. That is the spirit of Christ in our Christmas giving.

'Twas THE WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS

(Apologies: A Visit from St. Nicholas)

'Twas the week before Christmas, and on College hill,
There was laughing and chattering, no one could be still.

The books were all placed away with great care,
For holiday plans were now in the air.

The girls seemed to have the Christmas touch,
They sewed on ribbons, and laces and such.

And even at night, tucked snug in their beds,
Visions of presents danced in their heads.

They shopped and shopped, with blithe spirits and glad;
They bought beautiful presents for Mother and Dad.

But one day from the campus there arose such a chatter,
The townpeople ran to see what was the matter.

Some of the brighter ones decided fast,
That going-home day had come at last.

And down at the station, what should appear,
But the Beauty Special, 'twas really quite clear.

The girls scrambled on, the train left so quick,
I went faster than reindeer of dear old Saint Nick!

Each girl waited eagerly, as to her station they came,
The jolly conductor called each by name.

And each cried to the rest of her schoolmates so dear,
"Merry Christmas to all! And a happy New Year!"

THE INDIVIDUAL IN THE PROGRAM OF PEACE

"Woodrow Wilson gave the world the greatest thought of fifteen hundred years when he said: 'I had rather fall in a cause that ultimately triumphs, than triumph in a cause that ultimately fails;' and his life gives evidence of his complete belief in that theory.

The individuals of the world, and the nations as a whole, crave, in a most human way, not ultimate triumph but present success. Gluttonous as they are, they would have fame, reputation and glory fed their bodies, their minds. True courage is the demand for lives sacrificed to a cause that fails. There is a lack of vision of the success that looms in the far distance—a vision beautiful in its magnanimity: a world program.

A league that involves nations of the world, nations designated by myriads of customs and manners; a league that means peace, liberty and brotherhood, cannot be secured in a year or in a score of years. There are two rigid demands that must precede this final triumph: first, generations must catch the Woodrow Wilson vision; and second, those followers must possess the courage to sacrifice for a cause that cannot give them, nor their children's children the final success that is desired.

Nationalism pulls the nations of the world apart; individualism and commercialism draw the nations of the world together. But militarism and imperialism have grown out of individualism. And these negative forces exist in the world today because individuals of nations lack vision; lack faith in a program of peace. The individual "has eyes and sees not;" and more than that he does not possess the courage that belief demands.

G. S. C. GIRLS PREPARE FOR XMAS

Each evening, immediately after dinner, an unusual and comical pageant is presented in the Gym room of Annex C. The girls are preparing for Christmas and not in the way one would expect.

Making use of their reputed originality and wisdom, they have hit upon a scheme entirely different from any of those usually thought of in this connection. Their choice proves their right to said reputation.

If, by chance, you should visit the Gym room at the appointed hour, you will find them sewing, writing cards, planning presents, parties, and frocks. No, you guessed wrong. You will find them bending and bowing, jumping and hopping, gracefully accompanying the directions and music issuing from a victrola.

A program more inspiring, more mirth provoking or more earnestly and diligently carried out, could hardly be planned for your holiday preparations.

For further details, apply to the G. S. C. W. girls who are reducing for Christmas.

MARTHA STORY GIVES PURPOSE OF SCIENCE CLUB

Today when I interviewed Martha Story, president of the Science Club, she stated that the purpose of the club is three-fold. First, the club endeavors to stimulate interest in science among the students; second, to create a better understanding of scientific problems which have puzzled the members; and lastly, to be a social medium in which the students in science may come to know one another better.

"We meet every second and fourth Tuesday," she said to me. "One of these meetings is a business meeting, the other is of a social nature. Due to the time necessary for the organization of our club, we have been able to have only one program meeting. At this meeting we discussed forests and the value of forests and trees.

"It has been suggested that we post the scientific and common name of each tree on the campus," she added. She also told me that the club is to have a bulletin board and in connection with this, a question box in which the members may place questions, which they desire to be answered.

"Since this is the first year a science club has been organized, we hope to accomplish great things," she said in closing.

WITH THE ALUMNAE

Miss Nina Clarke, a graduate of '22, is head of the Home Economics at Seventh District A. & M., Powder Springs, Ga.

Miss Josie Slocumb, '15, is the Elementary supervisor in the Atlanta Public Schools.

Miss Lulu Kemp, '22, is teaching near Marietta, Ga.

Evelyn Johnston, '22, is a member of the faculty at Dorlen, Ga.

Sadie Miller, '25, is teaching at Elko, Ga.

Gwendolyn Tony, '25, has a position in the bank at Carrollton, Ga. She was president of Mansion Dormitory last year.

Douglas Montgomery is employed as a fourth grade teacher in Griffin, Ga. She was a graduate of '25.

Margaret Holman, '25, is teaching the sixth grade at Griffin, Ga.

WITH THE ALUMNAE

Former Student is Song Composer
Stop! Look! Read! G. S. C. W. students!

Do you realize that one of your former classmates and teachers is fast becoming famous? She has written the words and music to a song, and has had it published.

The name of the song is "Wishing."

And who is the composer you ask? None other than your own Carolyn Eubanks. In 1923 she received her Normal diploma, in 1924 her diploma in piano, and in 1925 she was one of the instructors of music at G. S. C. She now lives in Macon and is studying at the New England Conservatory of Music, at Boston, Mass.

In living up to the ideals placed before her while at G. S. C. W., she is not only making an enviable reputation for herself but is reflecting credit to her beloved Alma Mater.

Miss Mary B. Brooks, supervisor of the Intermediate Department of G. S. C. W.'s Training School, is also president of the Alumnae Association. She received her Normal diploma in 1915, and the following year began teaching at Thomasville, Ga. In 1918 she returned to G. S. C. W. as a critic teacher in the fifth grade. In 1920 she was promoted to supervisor of the Intermediate Department. Before she was elected president of the Alumnae Association she was treasurer and later, vice-president of the organization.

Gladys Newsom, who was a graduate of '24, in the music department, is teaching at Monticello, Ga.

Katherine Haney, '25, is a member of the faculty at Abbotshurg, S. C.

Virginia Foy, '25, is teaching at Bainbridge, Ga.

Evelyn McMichael, a graduate of '22, has a position in the public school at Palmetto, Ga.

Frances Hart, '25, is teaching the first grade at Macon, Ga. She was vice-president of Ennis Hall last year.

Nell Wilson is employed as a fifth grade teacher in Reidsville, Ga. She was a graduate of '25.

Julia Capel, A.B., '25, is teaching at Midway, Ala.

Miss Essie Carson, '23, is now Mrs. B. J. Perry of Ridgeland, S. C.

Grace Hurst, '25, has a position in the high school of Adel, Ga.

Muzette Hunter, '25, is teaching near Washington, Ga.

Frances Burghard, '25, has a position in Macon, Ga. She was treasurer of Ennis Hall last year.

Annis Lee Parker, '25, has accepted a position in the public schools of Adrian, Ga.

Bernice McMichael, '22, is teaching the fourth grade at Greenville, S. C.

Ross Harrison, '25, took a prominent part in a school teachers' meet at Jeffersonville, Ga.

Alice McAlmurry, '25, is now a student at Lucy Cobb. She was the popular president of Ennis Hall last year.

SOCIAL NEWS

MISS AMERICAN WOMAN WEDS MR. HOME ECONOMICS

An event of great interest to all the members of the Home Economics Club and faculty was the wedding of Miss American Woman to Mr. Home Economics, which took place Tuesday evening at 5:30, at the regular meeting of the club.

Miss Ina Member played the funeral march from Lohengrin as the wedding party slowly came down the aisle. The flower girl, Lillie Vittamin, scattered health-bringing greens in the path of the bride. The dainty little ring-bearer, Paul Protein, carried the doughnut ring on a beautiful scrubbing-brush pillow.

The bride entered alone. She carried an enormous bouquet of collards. The groom met her at the altar where they were joined in marriage by Reverend Charles Carbohydrate. The ceremony was impressive in its simplicity and solemnity. The bride pledged to abide henceforth and forever by the fourteen laws of nutrition.

Mrs. Home Economics is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. American Parent. The groom has a long line of distinguished ancestors, one of which is Dr. M. M. Parks of Milledgeville. The many friends of the popular couple join in wishing them a happy life on the G. S. C. W. campus.

"Y" CABINET VISITS MCKINLEY'S WOODS

"Even if skies fall, come to 'Y' room at 1:30 sharp. Do not go to dining room." Notices like this, found in the rooms of cabinet members Monday brought them together. Anxiously they waited, wondering what was meant by the queer summons.

This was answered when Cliff Taylor, president of the "Y," gave the following invitation: "Is the wanderlust a-stirring in your veins

On this cold, crisp November day? If it is, will you come with us To a spot not so very far away? There'll be fun, just loads of it, If you'll only catch the spirit. So santer off with a girl you've known—yes

But not so very well before; A pilgrimage of friendship. Get it? Then come along—let's go!"

After finding a partner according to these instructions, every one set out and did not stop until the McKinley woods were reached. There fires were built under the trees and dinner cooked—just the kind of meal that suits appetites whetted by a brisk walk in the wind.

After dinner a short meeting was held. Then homeward the cabinet turned. The "Pilgrimage of Friendship" was a success!

SCIENCE CLUB ENJOYS SOCIAL

On Tuesday afternoon, December 8, the Science Club entertained with a party.

Ennis basement, the scene of the merriment, was decorated in gold and white, the club's colors.

With Dr. Beeson and Mr. Scott leading rival teams the club's skill in archery was revealed. Six out of twenty-three managed to get an arrow into the target. This would have put even William Tell to shame. Amy Jones, in the final contest, proved herself the best Cupid and was awarded the prize.

Miss Myrick played magician and juggled balls for the group.

A game of Quizz was next in order. Merle Morris won this, after a strenuous match.

OCCUPATION OF NEW BUILDING RELIEVES CONGESTION

As the new class room building for the Georgia State College for Women nears completion the twenty-eight rooms are being used by the different members of the faculty, where they will continue their work. Since the fire, one year ago, the college has been working under a great disadvantage for room and each instructor considers that fortune has come to them in the new building.

At present Misses Dietrich, Bailey, Barron, Thrash, Padgett, Barnett, Scott, and Napier, occupy rooms there. Dr. Weber has Room 23 of the new building for his office. The High School Department is using Room No. 19.

The fact that the art rooms are now in the same building is a great advantage with relation to material. The woodwork department will hereafter occupy Ennis basement. This is quite an improvement over the old shop in Terrell basement.

The new classroom building also furnishes the four high school grades of the Training School with room for them to carry on their work more efficiently.

This new building seems to act as an incentive for better work and a most successful year is anticipated.

IN EXCHANGE

Dr. D. E. Phillips, professor of Psychology at Denver University, declares that co-eds do not seek education as a training for a career. "Not one out of ten expects to get a job. Nine out of ten plans to end their careers at the altar." Which goes to prove that college is the greatest matrimonial bureau on earth.—Exchange.

Students at the Presbyterian College are to give up their dinner on December 14 and to provide a simple menu in its place, the difference in price to be given to aid in the Near East Relief movement. The Blue Stocking states that this was decided by a unanimous vote of the student body.

The Winthrop Journal was voted, by the South Carolina Press Association, the best college literary magazine published in South Carolina. Other Winthrop publications won four first places and one second place. We congratulate Winthrop on her superior journalistic work.

Miss Hasslock served refreshments in her own charming fashion. The guests returned to the campus with dark plans to go back on some dismal, moonless night and escape with that priceless scarf.

COLONNADE BEGINS TO REALIZE AIMS

It has ever been the aim of The Colonnade to place itself on an equal footing with other college publications. In order to do this, it was necessary to systematize and organize the entire management of the paper. This has been going on and still is taking much of the efforts of the Editor-in-Chief and her associates.

Now that things are more in order, the paper is being sent away for printing. Since last edition is has been going to the McGregor Company, Athens, Ga. An example of their workmanship is The Red and Black, a neat, well printed paper of very attractive appearance.

The high grade printing done by the McGregor Company, along with their spirit of co-operation, is appreciated by the staff and entire student body.

MISSIONARY SENDS PETRIIFIED WOOD TO SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Freaks of nature are always very fortunate in having one that is very interesting, and G. S. C. is especially useful as well. This freak is a piece of petrified wood which is supposed to have been a piece of yellow pine several years ago a Milledgeville from an Arizona forest.

girl, Miss Katherine Sheffield, a graduate of G. M. C. and a former student of this college—left Georgia for the west. She was to enter the Government Indian Service work.

About three months ago, both G. M. C. and G. S. C. received pieces of petrified wood to be used in the Science departments. These gifts came from Miss Sheffield, who is now on the Indian Reservation at Zenith, Arizona. The vari-colored rock is certainly a curiosity to many of the students here.

A strong, stirring speech was made by the Propagandist. The patriotism of America's sons was pictured vividly. The giving of their lives for their country. He gave as his philosophy, "My country first, right or wrong."

Soldiers representing Russia, Austria, France, Germany, and England told of their experiences in war. Each declared his life had been given for freedom. Too, they were afraid of criticism, and this forced them to action when summoned.

The Student then directed his speech to the Diplomat: "Woe unto you, impious ones, who traverse sea and land to make such proselytes." So did criticize the Militarist, Financier, Propagandist, and Soldiers; showing them that their policy was not the law of Christ. Jesus said, "You must love your enemies and help them. You must lend to them without expecting a reward."

MISS TUCKER PRESENTS MUSIC PUPILS IN RECITAL

One of the most enjoyable events of the past week was the recital given on Tuesday evening, December 15, by the pupils of Miss Alice Le-nora Tucker. The crowd assembled at seven o'clock in the Methodist church.

The program represented many famous composers in a number of delightful songs and ballads. The rendering of each number represented the patient work each girl has done this fall to make her notes clear and true.

PAGEANT, "WAR AND PEACE," PRESENTED AT VESPERS

During the past few weeks the students on the campus have been given an excellent opportunity to express their own ideas and convictions relative to war and peace.

On Sunday night, December 6, at Vesper services a splendid program was given. The opinions of different people were brought together and made composite. This revealed the thoughts, purposes, and ideas concerning war and peace.

The music contributed much toward making the service an impressive one. The choir, made up entirely of Freshman girls, processed from the back of the church to the choir loft. They sang, "We Lift Our Hearts to Thee, Lord."

Ruth Vaughn led the devotional. One was made to feel that old fellowship no longer should remain but the fellowship that is broad and free should be sought.

A pageant followed, given by Freshman Council girls: "War or Peace?" The speakers entered singly. First the Diplomat gave his opinion. He argued that the United States was falling behind other nations, in that our country was not acquiring rich territory, that the United States had entered in treaties but it was necessary that these be supported by soldiers and money.

The Militarist emphasized the fact that the glory of a nation is measured by its success in war. He declared the soldier's part is a most important one for they will be called upon to end war until the end of time.

The Financier insisted that the wealth of a nation determines its power. It was said that the United States as a nation should attempt to attain the wealth of weaker nations so that the pendulum of the balance of power will swing to America.

A strong, stirring speech was made by the Propagandist. The patriotism of America's sons was pictured vividly. The giving of their lives for their country. He gave as his philosophy, "My country first, right or wrong."

Soldiers representing Russia, Austria, France, Germany, and England told of their experiences in war. Each declared his life had been given for freedom. Too, they were afraid of criticism, and this forced them to action when summoned.

The Student then directed his speech to the Diplomat: "Woe unto you, impious ones, who traverse sea and land to make such proselytes." So did criticize the Militarist, Financier, Propagandist, and Soldiers; showing them that their policy was not the law of Christ. Jesus said, "You must love your enemies and help them. You must lend to them without expecting a reward."

us which have not been met.
In her most charming manner,
Cliff Taylor, Y. president, introduced to the Freshman Council, the Cabinet of the Y. W. Although the cabinet members were not there in person, she presented their names so that Council might become familiar with the names of the girls with whom they are to work.

After Cliff's talk, three former presidents of Freshman Council in order: Anna Elizabeth Branch, Polly (Mary) Moss, and Elizabeth Green, gave in a most delightful manner
some of their experiences as councillors.

Anna Elizabeth said that the biggest things that members of the council enjoy, is the fellowship with one another. Polly assured those present that one learns more about the great work of the Y. W. C. A.
if she is a member of the council.
Elizabeth proved with interesting accounts of hikes and picnics which last year's council had enjoyed that being on council is not all work and no play.

Jayne Weeks gave a most inspiring talk, making each girl realize that all her efforts should be turned toward knowing Christ and making Him known.

The council then planned to go on a hike the following Tuesday afternoon so that the members might begin to know each other better. The meeting was closed with a prayer by Jayne Weeks.

This group has determined to make this year the best year that the Y. W. C. A. has seen at G. S. C.
They have really started to work and hope to be organized soon.

NEW STRUCTURES RESULT OF FIRE

the beauty of the whole campus.

A keen spirit of loyalty has been manifested by the friends of the college. The present students, the members of the Alumnae Association, the City of Milledgeville, and the Teacher (after having told the story of the rainbow after the flood) —“Johnny, what does it mean when we see a rainbow in the sky?”

Johnny—“It Ain't Gonna Rain No
More.”

State Legislature have co-operated with Dr. Uarks in making this unusual progress possible. No man in the state could have led this group of Georgians more efficiently and enthusiastically than has Dr. Parks.
He has given his skill and his efforts untiringly to the management of the college and to the accomplishment of this great result that has been attained.

The progressive spirit of the present student body is characteristic of the institution. They are anxious to make every year count for a greater G. S. C. W.

Swallowed His Pride

The cannibal chief was weeping profusely, whereupon the inquiry was made, “Why do you weep?”

“I am weeping for my dear Gullabazoo, the pride of my heart, sobbed the chief.

“And why do you weep for her?”

“Alas! Poverty compelled me to swallow my pride!”

—Progressive Farmer.

He: “I love the good, the true,
the beautiful, the innocent—.”
She: “This is so sudden, but I think father will consent.”

Live and Learn
Junior Co-ed: “Why doesn't Jack take you to the theatre any
more?”

Fresh Co-ed: “Well, you see, one night it rained and we couldn't go, so we sat in the parlor. But anyway, I think theatres are an bore, don't you?”

—Syracuse Orange Peel.

Behold the Wah
Capt. (sharply): “Button up that coat.”

All's Well!
Voice from near by house: “Who's in that chicken coop?”
Snowball Johnson (a veteran):
“A friend.”

—Windmill.

Sarcasm
Father (sternly): “Young man,
I saw you put your arm around my daughter last night.”

Youth: “I suppose you noticed how she struggled, too?”

—Stanford Chaparral.
